Custom Solution for School Results in New Product Superior to Micro Terrazzo

Products Used: Stoncrete® EFX • Stonshield® SLT
Application Area: Corridors • Locker Rooms • Pool Decks

“The specialized work we did throughout Horace Mann just shows the many ways Stonhard goes the extra mile to solve customer problems and offer customized solutions,” said Jesse Marino, Stonhard Commercial Territory Manager.

PROBLEM

Horace Mann School, a prestigious, private preparatory school in New York City, experienced damage to their floors during a renovation project. When considering a replacement, they contacted Stonhard, the flooring manufacturer and installer for more than a dozen of the school's physics labs and corresponding corridors. Planners were impressed with Stonhard's product and workmanship and felt confident in working with the company again.

SOLUTION

Stonhard set up a Lunch & Learn session to outline the individual benefits of Stonhard flooring systems, giving planners a full range of possibilities. Discussions resulted in a request for a specific look, while ensuring the necessary performance for an active school – durability, wearability, abrasion resistance – would be maintained. Stonhard formulated a custom solution for Horace Mann and introduced a new product, Stoncrete EFX. Stoncrete is a distinctly modern look for commercial interiors, a decorative epoxy flooring system, with the look of micro terrazzo, offering outstanding performance and multiple design options. The new floors offered exactly what the client desired, giving the corridors and stairwells a fresh look and providing a long-term solution.

While on-site, Stonhard was also contracted to install a slip-resistant, textured tweed flooring system, Stonshield SLT, for the school's pool deck.
